

BCC Student Resource Center project on schedule

It won't be long before BCC's main campus takes on a whole new look. Construction on the new Student Resource Center is on schedule and the exterior is nearing completion. With its modern façade and unique design, the new facility will transform the view visitors and new students see when they come to the campus.

The masonry is complete or nearly complete and most of the exterior of the building is finished, with the exception of the roof and window areas. Work on the ductwork for the heating and air conditioning system is in full swing and when completed will pave the way for the remainder of the "drying-in" process.

When completed the facility will be the new home of the library. Plans call for the structure to also house a number of other functions including a fully equipped computer lab.

The 14,000-plus square foot, $3 million project is being funded with state higher education bond dollars approved by state's voters 10 years ago. It is scheduled for completion next January.
