

The Continuing Education Department will be offering an Moodle Online Teaching Techniques course beginning September 3rd and ending November 6th . James Cook is the instructor. Also James will be teaching Introduction to Web-Based Software starting September 29th and ending December 2nd. The courses are all online.

The registration fee for each of these courses is $120, however, if you have not taken a free course this semester, full-time faculty and staff may take it at no cost.

You may register for the course in bldg. 2, room 211. For further information, give me a call at ext. 5561.